PEASANT LEVY

Every force need fodder, an unfortunate truth in war. And yet, there's fodder holding the line at knifepoint and fodder that steps up of its own accord. The Brotherhood's Peasant Levy are mostly volunteers, which sets them above conscripts. They are most efficient in great numbers and fighting alongside experienced warriors, disrupting enemy lines. Enemy commanders would be unwise to dismiss them as mere rabble.

MEN-AT-ARMS

The Brotherhood Without Banners is technically an outlaw band, acting in service to any lord who fights for the realm's justice, working towards bringing peace swiftly to the kingdoms. As such, they're seen as idealists (and fanatics), and their Men-At-Arms are staunch professionals willing to fight to the bitterest of ends in the name of justice. They serve best in the line, grinding the enemy to dust.

RALLY THE SMALLFOLK

After this unit completes a Melee Attack, if this Attack destroyed an enemy rank, target 1 friendly Infantry unit in Long Range. They restore 2 Wounds.

BROTHERHOOD ARCHERS

Archers in more formal forces often wear brightly colored uniforms, stand in perfect rows, and fire volley after volley into enemy troops, bringing death on feathered shafts. The Brotherhood Without Banners, however, has other ideas. While their archers are quite capable of such deadly rain, they function best from ambush positions, trained to sow chaos and confusion in enemy ranks to soften those lines for an easier assault from any angle.

BROTHERHOOD SWORN KNIGHTS

Former knights of renown both great and small, the Brotherhood's Sworn Knights are among the most skilled in all of Westeros, lured away from their lords by a greater calling. As such, they're nigh unbreakable, and often serve as the force around which many Brotherhood battles are designed. While terrain will usually dictate their employment, a Brotherhood commander who can set up for their deadly charge will see victory more often than not.
