GHOST

The albino direwolf known as Ghost could not be more aptly named, trailing in Jon Snow's wake like an ominous shadow. On the battlefield, Ghost ranges more or less freely, having an instinctive grasp of his master's will. Capable of shocking speed and rending through armor with his powerful jaws, Ghost operates best as a flanker or in pursuit of broken troops. Indeed, the sight of a charging direwolf is enough to shake most men to their core.

CHARACTER

May only be fielded in an army containing Jon Snow.

SWORN BROTHERS

As the mainstay of the Night's Watch forces, the Sworn Brothers face Wildlings and other northern terrors with stoicism and reserve born of long-training and solid gear. Indeed, having their own forges and smiths allows the average Brother a better kit than the average foot soldier belonging to most great houses (except House Lannister, of course). Sworn Brothers can be relied upon to hold the line, almost regardless of the odds.

RANGER TRACKERS

6

The Night's Watch Rangers employ many units of varying skill sets, but their eyes are embodied by the Trackers. As dedicated scouting cavalry, Trackers are charged with providing intelligence on enemy strength, numbers, and location. On the battlefield their expertise extends to determining enemies in vulnerable positions. Wise commanders will heed their counsel, and position troops to exploit such weaknesses accordingly.

VETERANS OF THE WATCH

7

While Sworn Brothers can confidently keep their place in the line, Veterans possess the arms and expertise to push the line forward. They're skilled combatants, nigh impossible to break, and their personal kit consists of the best armor the Builders can forge. Even the most professional units the Seven Kingdoms can muster would find the Veterans difficult to thwart, let alone defeat.

BUILDER CROSSBOWMEN

7

While the Wall and its fortifications remain the Builders' primary responsibility, they also service arms and armor for the entirety of the Night's Watch. Thus, their role on the battlefield is not traditionally as front-line combatants. But in the face of some enemies, every man wants a weapon at hand. As crossbows require more attention to upkeep and maintenance than most weapons, the Builders are a natural choice to act as second-line fire support.

RANGER HUNTERS

7

Often working hand-in-hand with Ranger Trackers, Ranger Hunters specialize in eliminating critical targets on the battlefield. While stealth is rarely an option in open battle, Hunters strike suddenly, exploiting weakened or vulnerable enemies, often eliminating them to a man before any serious resistance can mount. However, as with all light infantry, being bogged down in an extended melee can prove fatal, something any commander should avoid.

BUILDER SCORPION CREW

LIMITED

Your army may only contain up to 2 Builder Scorpion Crews.

The Night's Watch Builders are known for their ingenuity, and none embodies this more than the Builder Scorpion Crew. With just a few specialized parts, and enough available timber, the Crew can construct a mobile Scorpion, capable of firing massive bolts at long range and with surprising accuracy. Entire ranks can be cut down by a single projectile. However, the Scorpion itself requires time to reposition, and it moves very slowly.

BUILDER STONE THROWER

Your army may only contain up to 2 Builder Stone Throwers.

Builder Stone Thrower Crews are adept at constructing and operating mobile Stone Throwers in the field. The Builders insist these are not catapults, as those siege engines are typically on a larger scale and often use specialized projectiles, but the principles are the same. A competent Stone Thrower Crew can land their deadly projectiles dead-center in enemy formations, against which not even the heaviest of infantry have any protection.

- At the start of this unit's Activation, it may perform 1 Maneuver or Retreat Action.
- The first time this unit is destroyed, at the start of the next Round, you may redeploy it fully within Short Range of any Flank table edge.

CONSCRIPTS

Somewhat ragged and often unruly, Night's Watch Conscripts are literally the lowest of the low. While the Watch prefers to provide at least some training to their newest recruits, on occasion, defense of the Wall requires every man standing to grab a blade and sally forth. Liable to break and run at the first sign of serious resistance, a wise commander will not depend too heavily on the Conscripts holding against strong odds.

COLDHANDS

MYSTERIOUS ALLY

A mysterious specter that aids or hinders forces according to an unknown design, the entity known as Coldhands might be an ally one day and an enemy the next. He commands endless flocks of ravens to savage opponents with raking claws and battering wings, and rides a mighty elk into battle, where his own considerable prowess comes into play. He wears the armor and cloak of a Night's Watch brother, though whether these were his in life or looted from a fallen foe, none can say. Even if cut down, Coldhands reappears on the field a short time later.

RANGER VANGUARDS

Night's Watch Rangers are known for their ability to blend into the wilderness, lying in ambush for their enemies. Such assaults are even more devastating when delivered on horseback. Hiding cavalry proves tricky in most any terrain, but the Ranger Vanguards know the woods north of the Wall better than anyone. Thick copses of trees, hidden dells, and even mild depressions in the terrain provide plenty of territory from which to surprise foes.

SHADOW TOWER SPEARMEN

Guarding the Wall's western end stands the Shadow Tower and the Black Brothers who stand their vigil. Like all Night's Watch brothers, the Shadow Tower Spearmen are clad in black leather and darkened steel, suited for warmth against the North's legendary cold. Spearmen make superior flank guards, adept at receiving enemy charges, whether that be from cavalry or infantry, and delivering punishing blows before their opponent closes range.

WATCH MARSHAL

Rising to the rank of Watch Marshal requires more than simple horsemanship and command authority. It requires a Watch Brother to have spent their time in the front lines and on long patrols beyond the Wall, enough to have seen every enemy the Watch must contend with and learning to deal with them effectively and decisively. Watch Marshals excel at getting the best out of their troops through pressing advantages in both attack and maneuver.
